

PPR Solutions Storage Practice

PPR Solutions is a leading storage architecture and data management consultancy. By working with you, we will build and deliver storage solutions that meet your operational requirements, have technical longevity and deliver measurable outcomes to your business.

Our experience of data centre operations and our proprietary Structured Organisational Review Technique (SORT) enables us to focus on the technology, people and process requirements to deliver storage solutions that increase business agility, minimise risk and maximise return on your investment.

By establishing accreditation with our technology partners we are able to provide certified professional services engineers that can be engaged to support you throughout the transition to your storage service offering or as staff reinforcement during high workload activities.
